Men Going to War

The remarks your correspondent made before the Rotary club at its meeting today noon entertaining the men joining the armed forces in the current Hempstead County Selective Service call are editorial copy too:

I said: This morning the Navy Department announced that Hempstead county boy, second-class fireman in the Navy, was reported missing at Manila in a telegram from the Navy Department received Friday by his father, Richard William Jeanes, Washington Route One.

Howard Jeanes Is Missing at Manila

Howard Jeanes, a Hempstead county boy, second-class fireman in the Navy, was reported missing at Manila in a telegram from the Navy Department received Friday by his father, Richard William Jeanes, Washington Route One.

The telegram follows: "The Navy Department exceedingly regrets to advise you that according to the records of this department your son, Howard Jeanes, fireman second-class U. S. Navy, was performing his duty in the service of his country in the Manila Bay area when that station capitulated."

"Outpost fighting almost invariably involves retreat. It has always been the opinion of our military and naval leaders that the Philippines were indefensible, but for strategic reasons it was necessary that that outpost hold on as long as possible—and in the eventual retreat not all could be rescued.

But the men joining our armed forces today face a happier situation. The outposts have been abandoned, and the United Nations are now fighting on their main battlefronts.

And to the men of the armed forces we can say: The Home Front is right behind you. American industry and all civilian life have been organized to bring everything possible to bear in behalf of the soldier.

To assure you that however the tide of war may go you will be supported in victory, and covered in retreat.

And finally, the Army itself is a school that every American is a better man for having sometime in his life studied there. I say that sincerely.

For the Army teaches the old virtues in a world which today is almost without virtue. The Army teaches Courage and Loyalty and Truthfulness.

Thus it was that after the disaster of Pearl Harbor, when we were obviously caught flat-footed, the Army and Navy needed no outside help or advice in once more setting their house in order. The armed forces within themselves fixed responsibility, condemning one, praising another—but, above all, making sure this disaster would not happen again.

And so it is that the armed forces today hold the nation's highest confidence—and kinship, for all of us in one way or another are part of that uniformed host which is rolling on toward victory and eventual peace.

By S. BURTON HEATH
We All Are Consumers

Just because we now have an ostensible ceiling over prices, we can not afford to relax and assume that all dangers of price inflation has been removed.

The ceiling is Leon Henderson's, and that alert gentleman is not fooling himself. He knows that the step we have taken thus far is merely a stopgap, helpful but limited in its effectiveness.

That, of course, is why Mr. Henderson has been back before a congressional committee and is reporting opposing general increases in the wage level and favoring taxes even more generous than Treasury Secretary Morgenthau proposed.

The hearing was closed, and only second-hand reports as to Mr. Henderson's proposals have been made available. These did not mention a ceiling upon the prices of farm products. Since the Price Czar is a realist, and hard-boiled, it seems probable that he did bring up this third element in the program needed to avert further—and potentially disastrous—price inflation.

Working men, who support their families on wages and try to save a bit, hate to have Uncle Sam decree that their incomes shall be fixed, for the duration, at present levels.

Farmers, who took a beating for years, would like to recoup out of the present war-induced prosperity. They, too, dislike having any effective roof put over the prices they can obtain for their products.

We can sympathize with both, just as we sympathize with the industrialist and the merchant who squeaked through the long depression, often by drawing upon capital assets and mortgaging their futures and now are forbidden to make good their losses.

We are almost as sorry for the wage-carrier and the farmer and the business man—but not quite—as we are for millions who are being drafted into the Army at $21, $22 or $50 a month, and are wondering what is going to happen to them.

Albuquerque, founded in 1706, was named in honor of the Duke of Albuquerque, viceroy of New Spain; the first r in the name was later dropped.

U. S. Tanks Lead Russians Nearer City of Kharkov

By the Associated Press

Led by American-made tanks Marshal Semen Timoshenko's armies were reported to have advanced 7 miles beyond the Donets river Friday in their big offensive against Kharkov, after smashing more than 150 German tanks in two days.

In the Crimea Hitler's field headquarters asserted that the Russian defenders of the heights before the Kerch shortcut to the great Caucasus oil fields had been driven back and that German and Rumanian troops were at the gates of the town.

The Nazi command mentioned tersely that fighting was continuing in the battle for Kharkov.

Soviet front line dispatches said the Red armies steadily were pressing forward capturing a number of nearby communities and advancing over roads littered with hundreds of German bodies, smashed tanks and cannons.

Red Star, army news publication, said the battle was "another heavy defeat" for the Germans.

Military dispatches said the Russians, attacking on a 35 mile front, were now only 20 miles from the heart of Kharkov with the Germans retiring slowly and awaiting reinforcements.

A British spokesman said Hitler's high command already had thrown German reserves into the conflict without stemming a Russian assault.

The Red army, he said, has penetrated Nazi lines in considerable depth.

On the Crimean front a Soviet communique acknowledged that the Russians again had retreated to new positions in the 7-day-old battle for Kerch Peninsula.

London quarters said the Russians were retiring in good order and added: "They are not licked."

In the Crimea a Soviet communique reported that stubborn fighting continued but gave no indication that Germans had reached the gates of Kerch city as claimed by the Nazi command.

A German spokesman Thursday night declared Axis troops crossed the "Tartar Ditch" an old line of fortification only 30 miles from the city after a 37 mile advance in 6 days.

While the defenders of Kerch fought with their backs to the sea the garrison at long-besieged Sevastopol, Russian Black Sea naval base, 150 miles west of Kerch, was reported slashing at Nazi lines in an attempt to ease the pressure on beleaguered comrades.

Soviet dispatches declared Russian snipers in that area had killed 10,000 Germans in 10 days and blown up a Nazi supply train.

In between the two main battle sectors of the Kerch and Kharkov, Axis reports acknowledged that Russians launched a new attack toward German-held Taganrog on the sea of Azov.

These reports said Nazi troops were pushing the Russian at the town of Poltovka, 15 miles north of Taganrog and 40 miles northwest of Rostov.

Two Hempstead county men, James Wyatt and Orie Wyatt, were arrested and jailed here Friday morning on charges of making untaxed liquor, Deputy Sheriff Tom Middlebrooks announced.

Joe Wray, another Army man, brother of Bill Wray, Rotarian, was also a guest of the club.

Other guests were: James R. Henry of Hope, former Rotarian; and R. J. Gidney, E. C. Daven, Earl Martindale, R. P. Bowen and C. O. Hartshorn, the last named being a Red Cross representative, and who appeared on the program.

Alex. H. Washburn, ex-service member, made the club address to the selectees.

Near the Fight Says Roosevelt

WASHINGTON — (P) — Declaring that more transport planes are needed, President Roosevelt told a press conference Friday that "we are getting into actual fighting more and more and at more places all the time."

Roosevelt spoke of increased American fighting in various parts of the world during a discussion of his order permitting the War Department to take over control of all the planes of commercial air-lines.

London quarters said the Russians were retiring in good order and added: "They are not licked."

In the Crimea a Soviet communique reported that stubborn fighting continued but gave no indication that Germans had reached the gates of Kerch city as claimed by the Nazi command.

A German spokesman Thursday night declared Axis troops crossed the "Tartar Ditch" an old line of fortification only 30 miles from the city after a 37 mile advance in 6 days.

While the defenders of Kerch fought with their backs to the sea the garrison at long-besieged Sevastopol, Russian Black Sea naval base, 150 miles west of Kerch, was reported slashing at Nazi lines in an attempt to ease the pressure on beleaguered comrades.

The airplane order means that domestic airline travel will be placed on full wartime basis in the near future with the army operating or controlling the nation's entire fleet of more than 300 transports.

Interest Tax Is Rejected

WASHINGTON — (P) — The House Ways and Means committee rejected Friday the treasury's proposal to tax interest on outstanding or future state and local securities.

Chairman Dougherty (D., N. C.) told newspapermen at the end of the morning session of the committee:

"We need all the planes we can get," he said. "Every kind is being taken over," including what he termed puddle jumpers and one or two man ships.

He asserted that almost anything that can fly is useful to the government.

The president did not elaborate on what front American men might be fighting soon, nor did he care to answer a question as to whether American troops had taken part in the British occupation of Madagascar.

British forces retreating up the Chindwin river valley of Burma toward India frontier have extricated themselves from their dangerous situation and are obtaining essential windfall profits in a time of national sacrifice.

The small British force which had been left in the port town of Akyab to carry out demolition after the British left there has been successfully evacuated to India. The Japanese now hold Akyab.

(Advices in London said remnants of the British army in Burma—about 5,000 men—had crossed into Manipur state in east India.)

Inside Burma Japanese troops advancing north along the railway from Mandalay occupied Kima, station town on May 9.

Witnesses for the plaintiff told the court the train did not blow its whistle or ring its bell as it approached the crossing. According to witnesses for the defendant, the bell was ringing as the train neared the crossing.

Testimony throughout the trial has been contradictory. The psychiatrists from Little Rock contradicted one another, one claiming Smith had been permanently disabled as a result of the accident and the other saying no permanent injuries had been sustained.

Garrett Story, fireman on the freight train involved in the accident, told the court the bell was ringing as the train neared the crossing, but the whistle was not blowing because the engineer was occupied in applying the emergency brakes after the approaching truck was seen coming onto the tracks.

It has been concluded that the pictures include three films entitled "Farmers in Defense," "Women in Defense," and "Homes for Defense." The picture machine is owned by the Army and is under the supervision of Lt. Merle of Camp Alton CCC camp. An Army representative will be in charge of the machine at all meetings.

Earl N. Martindale, chairman of the county U. S. D. A. War Board, will have charge of the program at Bingen, Friday, May 15 at 8 p. m.

The picture will be shown at Patmos school house Saturday, May 16 at 8 p. m. with the cooperative supervision of the County U. S. D. A. War Board and the Vocational Agricultural Department in Patmos school.

We, the Women
School Boards Are Not Fair on Marriage

By RUTH MILLETT

Who ever heard of a man's being fired or having his pay reduced because he married? Why, they do not even to the boys who marry in Iceland or Australia — even though the army may discourage such marriages.

And yet in some communities where a WOMAN teacher has in the past been fired when she married (if she didn't want to or could not keep her marriage a secret) married women are still being discriminated against, even though there is such a shortage of teachers.

In one large city, for example, the teacher who marries a soldier—even though she marries a soldier who can't support her—is "permitted" to resign and then is rehired as a substitute teacher, at substantially less than the salary of a regular teacher.

That means that a teacher with

Eight Ounces of Sugar a Week
Affects Diet

Eight ounces on sugar a week! What will that mean to the average daily diet?

In discussing that question uppermost in the minds of every American since sugar rationing has gone into effect, Miss Mary Claude Fletcher, county home demonstration agent, says that sugar allotment of eight ounces a week or 28 pounds a year is not too severe a drop from the 50 pounds a year recommended as a satisfactory standard from a nutritional standpoint.

It is a real drop, however, from the average annual consumption of 115 pounds per person, and just how much adjusting each person will have to do will depend largely on individual preferences and food habits, Miss Fletcher said.

Explaining that eight ounces of sugar is approximately one cup, 18 tablespoons or 48 teaspoons, or 1636 grains of sugar, Miss Fletcher says that, the amount, if distributed equally throughout the week, will mean not quite seven teaspoons a day.

For individuals wondering how far seven teaspoons a day will go, Miss Fletcher lists examples, prepared by Miss Mary E. Loughead of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, of how much sugar is used at the table for sweetening and in some desserts and other dishes:

1 cup coffee—1 or more teaspoons sugar.
1 piece custard pie—1/2 teaspoon sugar.

1 plain cup cake (2 inches in diameter and 2 inches thick).
1 serving plain ice cream (4 frosting) 4 teaspoons sugar.

Explaining that sugar contributes to the energy value of the diet and helps to satisfy the appetite, the Extension specialist in foods and nutrition says that the loss in energy value of the diet, occasioned by sugar rationing, can be made up by the use of larger quantities of potatoes, cereals, fat meats, butter, and other high calories foods, which Americans, fortunately, can obtain.

Shouldn't Crab

With Jane Richardson handing out new fiberboard licenses to fishermen, crabbbers and oyster hunters along the Virginia coast there should be little crabbing over substituting the new plates for steel ones.

Beneficial
Yawning is a distinct benefit to a human being. It tends to restore the equilibrium of the air pressure between the middle ear and the outside air, and often produces a feeling of relaxation.

Bob Hope, Madeleine Carroll Furnish Fun in 'Favorite Blonde'

Hilarious Fun Film Comes to Saenger Sunday

Patrons of the Saenger Theater are in for a hilarious session of first class film fun Sunday when Bob Hope, Madeleine Carroll and Percy, the Penguin, open in the season's speediest cops-and-robbers comedy. The picture is Paramount's "My Favorite Blonde."

According to all report, the teaming of Hope and Carroll was an inspiration. Listeners on Hope's radio hour are thoroughly familiar with his expressions of unbounded admiration for the beautiful Madeleine. He's been calling her "my favorite blonde" on the air for years but nobody seemed to hit on the obvious and cast them together in picture until Paramount bought a story called "Snowball in Hell," a rollicking yarn of a ham vaudevillian who gets mixed up with Nazi spies. The character of the gorgeous British secret agent seemed made to order for Carroll. With the title changed and Hope cast as the bewildered actor, the result was "My Favorite Blonde," fastest and most furiously funny of the Hope epics.

The picture is a chase pure and simple but with a stepped-up tempo that makes for furious fun, a perfect film for Hope's brand of fast comedy.

Fast Comedy Chase
Matching in speed and laughs the highspots of "Nothing But the Truth" and "Caught in the Draft," the story of "My Favorite Blonde" sends the Hope-Carroll-Percy combination on a thrilling cross-country race that starts in New York and ends in Hollywood. Before it's over, Hope is wanted for murder, robbery, misrepresentation and a flock of other crimes, including evading arrest. He drives an oil truck, swipes a bus at a union picnic, flies a monoplane that's shot at in the air, spends a night with Madeleine in a freight car, outwits the Nazis murderers and, finally, takes a wild ride in a hearse with a secret military message that sends a flight of 150 American bombers on their way to Great Britain.

Sonergaard Boss Spy

Supporting the stars is a villainous list of heavies, the spy gang, headed by Gale Sonergaard, and including George Zucco, Lionel Royce, Walter Kingsford, Victor Varconi and Otto Reichow. Sidney Lanfield directed.

A word about Percy, the Penguin. Trained by Captain Ralph Luford, Percy perambulates in and out of the picture and steals more than one of the scenes even from that champion scene-stealer, Bob Hope. Watch Percy. He's destined to go places in the film business and we'll miss our guess if he doesn't turn up in another picture pretty soon.

Why U. S. May Draft You

By JOHN GROVER
Wide World Features Writer

WASHINGTON—Do you work in a war factory? On a farm producing vital food items? In a job necessary to wartime functioning of civilian life?

If the answer is "No," manpower mobilization means you, and you means every adult American physically able to work. President Roosevelt's recent order setting up the War Manpower Commission, headed by Paul V. McNutt, spotlights the necessity of maintaining an adequate labor supply to manufacture fighting equipment. It marked a new, brass-tacks policy in dealing with the supply of labor for war work. The talking war is over, and every American must justify his present job or face assignment to tasks the government considers more vital to victory.

Legislation in Prospect

This is not possible under existing law, but McNutt was specifically directed "to formulate legislation" bearing on the labor supply for submission to Congress. Such legislation could have only one purpose—to bring the whole labor force under federal control for war work.

Indicative of the closer control of the labor force is the authorization for a new draft classification, the 3-B deferment for occupational reasons, and also Senate committee acceptance of the measure providing financial aid to dependents of men in service, which would mean wiping out deferment for dependency.

McNutt has made haste slowly. In many ways his task is the most complex and colossal of any in the "war cabinet." It's equal to Production Boss Donald Nelson's job, with the added difficulty that it deals with human beings instead of materials.

Here are some of the main outlines of his problem:

1—There are about 8,500,000 workers in war production now, and the number must be stepped up to 17,500,000 by 1943.

2—The normal reservoirs of labor are drying up; there are only about 3,000,000 unemployed, mostly unskilled; the military will have 4,000,000 men ordinarily available for production in uniform by year's end.

3—Civilian life must be maintained as close to normal as possible, because home front morale is vital.

4—The emergency labor force—housewives without children, students, non-essential workers—is almost entirely unskilled. They must be devised to utilize semi-skilled workers.

5—Priorities for labor must be evolved, and are quite as important as material priorities. The competition between industries and between industry and the military in the field of manpower, even the contest between the army and navy for "cream of the crop" recruits, must be settled.

6—Placement of plants where labor is available, and transport of labor to areas where the supply of labor is critically short, also may come to pass.

Ten Million Required

Officials point out that war industries must have 10,000,000 new workers by 1943 to keep munitions rolling on schedule. There are 8,500,000 persons in war industries now. They'll need 17,500,000 by January, plus farm help in certain areas. Where are they coming from?

They've got to come from the labor reservoir in non-essential endeavors or from non-working groups. There are 32,400,000 non-defense workers employed now. Add to that 6,500,000 housewives eligible for full-time work, 500,000 students, 3,000,000 unemployed, 600,000 aged and handicapped and 5,800,000 able to do part-time work. It totals 48,700,000 from which must be drawn 10,000,000 new war workers.

The War Manpower Commission also will have final authority over drafting men from farms and industry for military service. McNutt has indicated that deferment by industry is not unlikely, to prevent dislocation of such critical production as shipbuilding.

Nothing will be allowed to interfere with war production.

However, not all of the 48,700,000 can do war work. Women might fill an estimated 1,500,000 of the 10,000,000 war jobs. The students are largely ticketed for the armed forces. Part-time workers can't be used in continuous production processes—too many shift changes. Actually, the 10,000,000 must come from less than 40,000,000 eligibles.

The natural flow of labor to jobs will take up part of the slack. First to go into war industry will be industrial workers from priority-closed non-essential factories. The natural drift of workers in clerical, sales and services lines to higher-paid war production will fill more jobs. They'll be usable after training. Housewives can take possibly half the 1,500,000 jobs open to women, with girl workers from non-essential lines taking the rest.

May Not Require Law

After that, the pinch comes. Census of estimates is that between 2,500,000 and 3,500,000 workers will be needed from the rest of the labor reserve.

The War Manpower Commission hopes that further voluntary transfer of workers from non-essential to vital production will fill those jobs adequately, without need for legal conscription. If legislation comes, it's expected to follow lines similar to military selective service.

Those in non-essential lines chosen for industrial service will go into training schools or training programs within industry to learn war trades. Their places in vacated non-essential sales, service and clerical lines will be filled by part-time workers and housewives.

Pastor Likely Challenger

By DEILLON GRAHAM
Wide World Sports Editor

New York—Bob Pastor, tabbed as the most likely September heavy weight championship challenger, isn't sitting back guarding his third chance at Joe Louis. He's out proving his right to it.

Pastor has already cut down three contenders this year. He decisively outpointed Gus Lesnevich, the light-heavy king. Then he gave further proof the night he defeated Lem Franklin, the Cleveland thumper, who had knocked out Bob's stablemate, Ample Abe Simon. Bob later returned to Cleveland to put a stop to Jimmy Bivins' noise.

Now he's scheduled to take on Tami Mauriello here this month. Tami is a youngster, a fast frowning kid fresh out of the light-heavy class. Tami has already been whipped but he is learning all the time, he's fast and he packs a terrific wallop. He could land one that would spoil Bob's title bid but Pastor is taking that risk.

Pastor has beaten most of the good ones, except Billy Conn and Lou Nova and Melio Bettina. He won't get a chance at Billy, for Conn already is set for a June date with Louis. If Pastor could beat Nova and Bettina, no one could raise a voice against his third go with Louis. Bob fought a draw with Nova several years ago and they may meet again. Nova is set to fight Lee Savold, a flash a year ago who was derailed and is back on the high road again in Washington May 21. The Nova faction is seeking a bout between the Nova-Savold winner and the Mauriello-Pastor victor.

The survivor would meet the Conn-Louis winner for the title in September.

All Masons are urged to attend.

Mr. Adams emphasized the importance of all people pledging in the present campaign or purchase of Defense Stamps and Bonds and congratulated 4-H Club members on their recent report showing a good percentage of 4-H Club members had already pledged.

Billy Ruggles, Club Reporter, gave a report on the County 4-H Club Rally Day and pointed out that Shover Springs had a good representation on the program.

Shover Springs took part in 4-H Victory Pledge and assisted in giving a demonstration in treating peanut seed with a mixture of equal parts of pine tar and kerosene to keep the rodents from eating up the seed.

Mrs. E. Aaron, local leader, is assisting with 4-H Club play to be given for the purpose of raising money to be used in the purchase of defense stamps and bonds.

Haemagogus mosquitoes—carriers of jungle yellow fever—live from one rainy season to the next in forest treelops.

In his personal life, Herblock shows much of the humor which characterizes so many of his cartoons. He's a great zoo enthusiast, and has often threatened to retire to raise giant frogs. Once, when on the way to visit an artist friend, Herblock took a present of a live goose—which he brought by trolley car. His serious hobbies are reading, music and theater.

Beaten Only Six Times

In his long career he has been beaten but six times—by Steve Dudas in 1938, Louis and Nat Mann in 1937, Gus Dorazio in 1938, Louis in 1939 and Conn in 1940.

Conn and Louis were the only ones to knock him out. Pastor is a good fighter, speedy, a pretty boxer. His artillery isn't too heavy but many think he would give Louis a better fight than anyone else. Joe himself told sports writers recently that he regarded Pastor as the best of the contenders.

It will be interesting to see how Louis fights now that his tutor and chief second, wily old Jack Blackburn, has passed on. Blackburn taught Joe all the champion knows. He did the thinking and Louis the fighting. He'll probably wish that Blackburn was in his corner when he meets Conn and Pastor. But, while Louis wasn't good at figuring out problems for himself, Joe was quick to absorb Blackburn's orders and he never forgot. Chances are he has fought enough and met so many different types of opponents that by now he knows all the answers.

Nothing will be allowed to interfere with war production.

Those 10,000,000 jobs will be filled, even if it means industrial conscription. If you're an average U. S. male, not now in war production, you're a one-in-four bet to be working in a war industry by 1943. Women without dependents face the same odds, either to be working in war industry or as replacement for workers shifted from non-essential to essential work.

The most important features of manpower mobilization. The bulk of the labor reserve is unskilled. A white-collar worker can't go on a production line. There are two solutions: (1) expansion of the training program, already underway; (2) devising production techniques to utilize semi-skilled workers after short training periods.

The War Manpower Commission also will have final authority over drafting men from farms and industry for military service. McNutt has indicated that deferment by industry is not unlikely, to prevent dislocation of such critical production as shipbuilding.

Minneapolis — Two lads named Bill are going to put some BANG in Minnesota's backfield next fall if what happens in April gridiron affairs has any bearing on October stuff.

In a strange settling, with Coach Bernie Bierman missing, the 1942 pigs in punch with the Golden Gophers will rest mainly on the play of Bill Garnaus and Bill Daley.

Garnaus quarterbacked the 1941 outfit to the national championship while running its victory string to 17 straight, and Daley played right half and fullback.

Now, in spring training, they are using Garnaus in the old left half spot where Captain Bruce Smith raced to All-America fame last fall. But Bill's still calling signals.

He displayed uncanny ability in picking the plays and in turn was picked as one of the nation's top sophomores. And he did some fancy ball carrying from right half, became a great pass catcher and also developed into a fine punter and place kicker.

Daley tickled was a terror on leads. Bob Sweiger did most of the fullbacking so that they had Bad Bill playing halfback during those dark days when star backs like Smith and Herman Frickey were sidelined with injuries. Frickey is showing well in spring drill despite a trick knee but has a long way to go catch up with Garnaus. Bill Higgins, the midget will-o'-wisp touchdown runner of 1941, is just as fast and tricky as ever.

Coach George Hauser, who stepped up to Bierman's place when the latter was called to active Naval service, won't talk about his backfield other than: "The boys all are hustling. We look pretty good but we've got along ways to go."

That makes Hauser measure right up to Bierman's old custom of saying nothing. Genial George wins those ball games he will have stepped off some distance toward matching the Bierman pace.

Lowell "Red" Dawson, late of Tulane, is helping patch up that backfield and Bill Wilkinson, late of Syracuse, is working with the freshmen. They replace Dallas Ward who joined the Navy and Sheldon Beise who went to Holy Cross.

Already the new combination is experimenting with a big change or two. Vic Kubilski has been shifted from center or quarterback and looks like a cinch.
